MR. STEALEY'S ADDRESS.

To the Chairman and Corporation of the Kentucky River Navigation Company:

GENTLEMEN: By request, the following statement in reference to the important navigation of the Kentucky river, contemplated by your charter, with any aid it may be to you in facilitating your efforts in consummating so desirable an object, is respectfully laid before you.

The sources of the Kentucky river rise in the Cumberland mountains, in the southeast section of the State, thence its general course bisects the State running nearly northwest, entering the Ohio river at Carrollton, about midway between Louisville and Cincinnati.

The bed of this stream occupies a valley two to three hundred feet below the level of the adjacent country; its immediate margin is skirted by high alluvial low-lands or bottoms, bounded by hill-side slopes and vertical limestone and sandstone bluffs; the adjoining up-lands are rich in productive agriculture, and diversified with the finest varieties of timber indigenous to the climate.

The channel of the river, from the forks to its confluence with the Ohio, a distance of two hundred and fifty-seven miles, is nearly the same width throughout its whole extent, averaging about three hundred feet surface line at low water; when improved with locks and dams, the surface line of the pools at low water would be four hundred feet wide.

The descent from the forks to the low water plane of the Ohio is two hundred and twelve feet, or about ten inches to a mile, distributed at low water through a succession of pools and rapids, over a bed constituted of solid rock, gravel, and sand.

Foundations of solid rock can be obtained for all the locks and some of the dams; the foundations of the other dams would be on rock and gravel.

Building materials can be readily obtained in the immediate vicinity of nearly all the sites of the works.

The natural features of the river, it will be seen, are peculiarly adapted, and favorable to the application of improvement by slackwater navigation.

In 1834, the State of Kentucky determined to commence a system of internal improvement, including works on roads and rivers. Under this system, and by direct authority of the Legislature, the Board of Internal Improvement in 1836 placed under contract five locks and dams on the Kentucky river, capable of passing two hundred and fifty tons boats; the works were commenced the same year and operations were continued on them until their final completion. In 1840 steamboats were passed through the locks, and in 1843 the navigation was formally opened and tolls were charged and collected from all boats and crafts using it.

At the time these works were erected they were novel in their character, there were no practical means to govern the relative strength and dimensions of their proportions; they were to be placed on a stream subject to sudden and frequent floods, loaded with heavy drift-wood, impelled by a rapid, impetuous current. These causes, acting as an occasional but actively powerful force, added to the constant force arising from the elevation of one pool above the other, with other considerations and causes, rendered it almost prudent that the works should be constructed on such plans and in such a manner that would not only make them sufficient to resist these combined forces, but would at the same time place their permanency and stability beyond all question of doubt and uncertainty.

Nearly twenty years have transpired, the mass of the locks is unchanged; the timbers of the dams are as sound as when first erected, and the only evidence of decay of material is in the timber pier-heads, abutments, and riveting crib-work above the level of the pools; the repairs or renewal of which would be comparatively trifling. There cannot now be any doubt of the absolute safety of the locks, or of the continued permanency of the dams for many years, so far as decay of material affects the question, and it is not likely that any new question as to their permanency will now arise. These facts are encouraging and favorable to the construction of similar works.

The amount of tolls collected from the opening of the navigation in 1843 to the 10th of October, 1857, a period of about fifteen years, is $370,055. The amount of expenditures for the same period is $177,445, leaving an amount paid into the treasury as revenue $192,610, making the average gross amount of receipts per year $25,000, and the average yearly expense of keeping five locks and dams in repair $12,000 nearly. Taking these results, which the experience of fifteen years justifies, as reliable data, and assuming that ten additional locks and dams are completed, then the freight and passengers on the navigation would be increased to four times its former amount, and the tolls would be increased to four times the former amount. This statement will be readily credited by all who are familiar with the resources of the Kentucky and its tributaries. Supposing that, at its final completion, its former average business should be passed on an average through only ten of the locks, and at the same rates of toll per mile now charged, the annual gross receipts would then amount to $150,000, deduct from this the annual cost of keeping fifteen locks and dams in repair, $36,000, and there remains a net revenue of $114,000, or a dividend of 10 per cent. per annum on $1,140,000. It is confidently believed that the business and its proceeds will far exceed this estimate of it.

During the year 1847 there were five steamboats running in the trade, making 233 trips, and paying a revenue in tolls of $729 91 on the following items of transportation, viz: 6,750 tons of freight; sundry lots of furniture, farming utensils, &c., and 24,221 barrels of salt, fish, and other wet barrels carried up the river. On 13,293 tons of freight, 5,273 kegs of hard, sundry lots of furniture, farming utensils, &c., 27,638 sacks of corn and wheat; 2,141 hds of tobacco; 5,917 barrels of beef, pork, and lard carried down the river; and on 31,881 cabin passengers, 4,044 children and 447 horses, mules, and cattle, 4,397 barrels, and 4,325 dry barrels carried up and down the river. There was received from flats, rafts, &c., $908 88, making the total receipts from five locks and dams for the year 1847, $439,635 77.

By the conditions of the act of incorporation, the five locks and dams on the lower part of the river, now owned by the State, when surrendered to the Company, would cost them an annual rent of $1,738 33, equivalent to a capital of about $30,000 at six per cent. interest. The estimated cost of the proposed extension is $500,000, making the cost to the Company of the whole line from the Ohio river to the Forks $830,000, or about $3,230 per mile. In comparison with the cost of other works this is a small expenditure for an improvement of such extent and capacity.

The two latter have a water surface width of sixty feet; the others are only about forty feet wide. The largest locks are on the Lehigh canal, the chambers of which are one hundred feet long and twenty-two feet wide.

The Kentucky River navigation, 257 miles long—the low water surface line, of which is 430 feet—the lock chamber 175 feet long and 38 feet wide, with 6 feet of water in the locks, will cost $3,230 per mile.

The average cost of railroads in the United States is about $30,000 per mile. The Louisville and Frankfort Railroad cost about $35,000, and the Covington and Lexington Railroad $38,000 per mile, equipped.

Cost per mile.
Lexington & Richmond do do $3,500
Danville & Crab Orchard do do 4,500
Lexington & Mayfield do do 5,700

In extending the works up stream the additional locks should have the same capacity of chamber as those already built, in other respects the plan and construction should be changed. The place of the dams and pier-heads could also be changed. These alterations would increase their usefulness and convenience, and greatly reduce the cost of construction.

The five locks and dams now in operation complete the navigation to the mouth of Clear Creek, a distance of ninety-five miles from the mouth of the river. The difference of elevation between the low water plane of the Ohio and the surface of pool No. 5, is seventy-three feet, and the cost of construction $301,932 70.

The part of the river contemplated to be improved by the act of incorporation, approved February 17, 1858, extends from Clear Creek to the Forks, a distance of 162 miles, with a total lift or elevation of 143 feet above the low water level of pool No. 5.

The original location by survey made in 1836, places 12 locks and dams in this part of the river—by increasing the lifts of some of the locks, which this increase would not over-weigh much, if any, land, 10 locks and dams, at most, will be sufficient to overcome this difference of level and extend the navigation into the mouth of each fork.

By a judicious change of the plans and specifications of the works, a proper selection of sites and proportions of materials, the cost of each lock and dam, including hydraulic lime, lock-houses, lands, clearing the river-banks, superintending, and engineering, will not exceed $50,000 each, making the total cost of the proposed new extension $500,000. This amount will defray all outlay incurred in their erection, and the substantial, well-constructed works will be insured. Water power can be provided for at each lock and dam.

Hydraulic lime of superior quality can be procured on the river, at several points between Irvine and the mouth of Muddy Creek. This bed of hydraulic limestone was discovered in 1837. It can be manufactured at a small expense, forming an important item in the cost of such works.

The following table exhibits the territory and statistics of the counties named in the act, bordering on the river and directly interested in its improvement, for the year 1857, as per Auditor's Report:

Counties.	Area, land & water, in acres.	Population, in 1850.	Value of real estate, in 1850.	Value of personal property, in 1850.	State revenue, in 1850.	Legal voters, in 1850.

Total	2,308,128	350,290	$9,590,590	$19,167,325	22,257	22,257

In addition to these, the following counties on the forks of the river are equally, if not more deeply, interested in the benefits to be derived, as they abound in coal, iron, salt, and lumber:

Counties.	Area, land & water, in acres.	Population, in 1850.	Value of real estate, in 1850.	Value of personal property, in 1850.	State revenue, in 1850.	Legal voters, in 1850.
Clay	236,449	81,155	$8,802,350	14,915,175	878	878
Perry	236,777	76,297	29,574	795	875	875
Breathitt	367,492	1,717	765,146	1,330	835	835
Total	840,718	189,169	$1,966,048	$3,050,130	2,588	2,588

The total number of acres and valuation of the taxable property of the State, as reported for the year 1857, is 29,202,104 acres of land—its average value per acre $10 08—total value of taxable property, $453,844,219—the revenue accruing therefrom, $907,888 43—and the number of legal voters, 159,584. The value of carriages, plate, pianos, &c., is not included in the above.

The value of the fifteen counties named in your charter constitutes about one-ninth of the whole area of the State—one fifth of its valuation—pays into the treasury one fifth of the whole revenue, and contains one seventh of the legal voters.

Including parts of adjoining counties, to which the navigation may be made subservient as an outlet to market by a proper system of roads, and the counties of Clay, Perry, and Breathitt, and the city of Louisville, the co-operation of whose citizens may be reasonably anticipated, the amount of territory within these limits influenced by and directly interested in the proposed improvement, is about 5,000,000 acres; the value of taxable property of this territory is $159,091,000; the State revenue paid annually by it is $300,000, and it contains 49,000 legal voters; thus exhibiting the fact that it is embraced within the territory that would be directly benefited nearly four-fourths of the area, one third of the taxable property, and one-fourth of the legal voters, paying into the treasury one third of the State revenue.

The proposed navigation, although of necessity local, its general tendency would be to increase the value of property, the domestic prosperity, and commercial welfare of the State.

The iron district occupies the country on both sides of the river between the limestone and coal districts; the ore occurs in horizontal beds of various thicknesses, is of good quality, and yields about thirty-three per cent. of pig metal. Timber is abundant. Suitable material for the erection of furnaces can be obtained. There is only one furnace and one large in the district, although it affords many desirable locations for three.

Numerous beds of coal are distributed through the counties of Owensley, Clay, Perry, and Breathitt; they range from three to five feet in thickness; the quality of the coal is good. Mines have been opened on the North and South Forks. The mines near the mouth of the South Fork ship several coal boats down the river in the fall and spring "rises." A bed of camel coal occurs on the North Fork.

Salt can be obtained in all these counties by boring wells from 250 to 750 feet deep. It has been manufactured on the North and South Forks; it is, however, chiefly produced in the East Fork of Goose Creek, near Manchester.

Above and around the Forks, the country abounds in fine varieties of timber, such as white oak, black walnut, yellow poplar, yellow pine, cherry, and cedar.

The mining of coal and manufacture of iron, salt, and lumber, in these districts, is now almost limited to the river, and must continue to remain so until a channel of communication with a more extensive market is opened. The extent to which they are produced will depend on the facilities afforded of taking them to the consumer at cheap rates of transportation.

All these elements of internal wealth, all these requisites of domestic economy so essential to our well being and prosperity, scattered in the widest profusion, are now unavailable for want of means of transportation. There they exist untended and locked up in nature's great coffers, and it only remains for your intelligence, energy, and enterprise to forge the key to unlock them, and let their hoarded treasures flow forth to recompense our labor, remunerate our capital, and to increase our domestic wealth, our comforts, and our social intercourse.

Very respectfully, GEO. STEALEY, Civil Engineer.

From Kansas.

LEAVENWORTH, Nov. 26.—Per U. S. Express to Booneville.—A Territorial mass meeting of the conservative element, for the purpose of organizing an opposition to the Republican party, assembled in this city yesterday. The attendance was numerous, though but six counties were represented. A thorough reunion and re-organization of the Democrats was advocated and hotly debated, a strong minority characterizing such action as premature. A series of resolutions, petitioning Congress for liberal land grants for public improvements, denouncing the Republican party in favor of the exclusion of free negroes from the future State of Kansas, declaring the slavery question a dead issue, advocating the opening of the Indian Reserve to settlers, and a modification of the pre-emption laws, were finally adopted, with a preamble, determining upon the immediate organization of the Democracy of the Territory.

The session was prolonged to a late hour, and was rather turbulent. Both wings of the party were well represented. The discussion was maintained with vigor. Able speeches were made on both sides. The convention did not commit itself with regard to candidates for the next Presidency, though strong Douglas tendencies prevailed. Adjourned sine die.

The Utah mail has arrived. Nothing new from Salt Lake. The severity of the weather seriously retarded the trains. Those of Russell and Waddell would get through about the 1st inst.

Three men arrived from the Kansas gold mines, having in their possession about $500 in dust, obtained in prospecting last summer. They give the most satisfactory statement of the extent and richness of the gold deposits.

It is reported that discoveries of platinum have been made by the Kaw Indians, who refuse to divulge its location. The deposits are believed to exist at Smoky Hill fork of the Kansas river, on the direct route from this city to Pike's Peak gold mines.

A number of persons squatted yesterday on the military reserve adjoining this city. Lumber, and other obstructions placed on the ground, were promptly removed by the quartermaster, Capt. Vanleit.

Arrival of the Illinois.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The steamer Illinois, from Aspinwall, has arrived with dates from S. Francisco of the 5th inst., which were mostly antedated by the arrival of the Quaker City at New Orleans.

Valparaiso dates had been received at Panama to Oct. 15th, and Callao to the 26th.

A revolution was talked of at Valparaiso. Several arrests of sergeants of regiments of the line had been made, but nothing else of importance had transpired.

A fire had destroyed $60,000 worth of property in San Francisco on De Dios street.

A new contract had been made by the Chilean government with the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, of five years, for carrying the mails.

The Ecuadorian Minister to Peru had received his passport and returned from that country.

Castilla had been declared president, and Congress had passed a law authorizing him to raise fifty thousand men, to supply funds for the war, and to organize the National Guard and decree war against Ecuador. General Echague was thought to be the author of the disturbances, the object being to direct attention to the North, while he invaded the South, assisted by Bolivia.

The Ecuadorian government had received a quantity of American rifles and was rapidly preparing for war. The last news from Callao is that Gen. San Roman had come down from Lima, to displace the Peruvian fleet to blockade the Ecuadorian ports, and that war had been definitely declared.

Arrival of the Europa.

HALFPA, Nov. 29.—The steamer Europa has arrived with advices to the 20th inst.

The bulletin of the Bank of England had increased £136,000 during the week. There is an improved demand for American securities, and State stocks had slightly advanced. Railroad stocks are quiet.

There were still no tidings of the Indian Empire.

Fredrick Bruce, brother of Lord Elgin, had been appointed minister to Pekin.

Persigny has been appointed president of the French commission to consider the question of negro slavery.

Robert Owen, late minister to Naples, was dead.

France was sending further reinforcements to Cochinchina, in consequence of the obstinate resistance of the natives.

Lords Palmerston and Clarendon are paying a visit to Napoleon at Compiègne.

Letters from Rome state that all the great Catholic powers had addressed remonstrances to the Pope, and requested the release of the Jewish exiles from the Papal States.

The Indian mails had reached England.

The ex-King of Delhi had been sent, under escort, to Calcutta.

An explosion had occurred at the Kurrachee railway, blowing up part of the building and destroying a million pounds of ammunition.

J. S. Circuit Court—Election of Sen.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 27.—The U. S. Circuit Court met to-day, Judges Wayne, of Washington, and McGraw, of South Carolina, presiding. The charges to the grand jury were delivered by both judges, strongly impressing upon the members of the jury the duties of impartially discharging their oath of office, and while avoiding unfounded accusations, to suffer no personal sentiments or party feelings to deter them from resorting to investigation every time they are presented with evidence of guilt exists. These charges, it is understood, were designed to meet the efforts made by certain parties to induce the grand jury to refuse to bring a bill against the mate and crew of the slave schooner Echo.

Some delay occurred through the difficulty in getting a full jury. The probability is that the action of the grand jury will be made on Monday.

The subject of the selection of a candidate for the seat in the United States Senate, left vacant by the death of Mr. Evans, is now a prominent question of discussion in political circles. Ex-Governor McAdams is the favorite of all those who desire to agitate the re-opening of the slave trade, but Gen. Barnwell Rhett, ex-Governor Manning, or Gen. McQueen, will most likely be the choice of the Legislature.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—It is said, by gentlemen who are particularly interested, that while a recommendation will be made to Congress for a modification of the tariff, with a view to an increase of revenue, the means by which this should be effected will not be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury. The subject is already agitated in political circles, as to whether there shall be a specific, instead of an ad valorem, duty on iron.

A letter brought by the steamer Quaker City, says that a number of Nicaraguan adventurers have landed about forty miles from San Juan del Sur, and recent private advices from the South state that those who were prevented from going out in the Alice Painter, have made arrangements to go to Nicaragua by some other conveyance.

Congress will be officially informed that the late disturbances in Washington and Oregon have resulted from neglect to ratify the various treaties concluded with the Indians of those territories.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The N. Orleans papers, of Monday last, received by mail, furnish additional particulars of Mexican intelligence.

The Vera Cruz, of the 11th inst., contains an account of an engagement between the forces under Gen. La Lave, at Tenczonapan, and a body of Echagay's troops, who were endeavoring to advance toward Vera Cruz by way of San Salvador. The Zuloagaists were met first by Gen. Camacho, and next by Gen. La Lave, who very rapidly defeated them. Gen. Vidaurri was energetically preparing for a new movement against Miramon, and was full of confidence. He states, in his address, that his loss was not so great as has been supposed, and that the loss of life was but small.

W. T. Anthony

The friends of Mr. Anthony, in presenting his name to the Democracy of this Senatorial district as their next standard-bearer, feel assured that the party could not select a better, sounder, or a purer Democrat than Mr. Anthony; he has always been a Democrat, when Democracy was triumphant, he has stood firm; when Democracy was in the minority, he was always found battling for the principles of his party and its principles. When Know-Nothingism sprang into existence, and Whigs and Democrats joined the order, denouncing their old parties, and took upon themselves oaths to proscribe Democrats, W. T. Anthony was as true as steel and still adhered to his principles, and declined his party from the assaults made upon it. His Democracy remained untarnished; and though he was compelled, with his party, to walk through the fire, yet even the "hem of his garment was untouched;" and he now stands as he has always stood, a firm, consistent Democrat. Mr. Anthony is a gentleman of sterling integrity, who can never be moved from his conscientious convictions of duty by all the blandishments of patronage, place, or power. He is a gentleman of experience, having been honored by his own county with a seat in the Legislature of Kentucky; and his course as a Legislator has not only secured for himself the approbation and smiles of his own constituents in Allen, but also those of his friends in Warren and Edmondson. Mr. Anthony's course has been uniform and consistent as all his acts go to show. The charge cannot be brought against him that he has been a member of every party that has had an existence for the last twenty years. W. T. Anthony would reflect honor upon the Democratic party, and credit upon his district as a Senator; in short, he is our choice, and the choice of a large portion of the Warren Democracy, whose name is Legion. W. T. Anthony, we are confident, would make a representative that will watch over and defend the interests of our district. He is not only well qualified to discharge the duties of a Senator, but he is a gentleman in every sense of the word. He now stands, as he always stood, a firm, unyielding adherent to the tenets of true Democracy; and he would go into the Legislature with the entire confidence of the people in his ability and honesty to carry out the fullest wishes of his constituents.—Boiling-Green Standard.

The Spanish Mission.

Hon. William Preston was left Lexington yesterday for Washington, en route for Spain. He will probably remain some days at the capital, en route with the President as to the policy to be pursued with regard to Spain. Cuba presents a very knotty question for an ambassador at the court of her Catholic Majesty, and the claims of American against Spanish subjects present many questions difficult of solution. But the noble, self-sacrificing spirit of Mr. Preston will be equal to any question that may be brought before him. He is the very man for the place, the time, and the circumstances.

We hope that he will be able to adjust the many unsettled claims between this country and Spain. Some of them have been standing for daily dying off. Spain has been permitted to exist in this country a great deal too much. She has done millions of harm, for which she has never atoned one cent.

Indeed, if no negotiations can be made by which we can get Cuba, Col. Preston will do enough for us if he will set right these tangled claims against Spain. We want them cleared up, if such a thing be possible. They have been upon the docket long enough. We have not space now, but shall hereafter give our readers an idea of the claims, by presenting a partial list of them. The amount of some of them is very great in dollars and cents, and much greater in crime and outrage. It is not certain that any other country than our own would have submitted to their unsettled condition so long.—Lex. Courier, 30th.

Hogs.—The Louisville Democrat, of the 1st, says:

We could not learn of any transactions yesterday. The receipts continue very heavy under contracts already made. We quote at $6 25 to $6 50 for hogs of 200 and 250 pounds. We do not include in the above any statement of the hogs killed at New Albany, though the number will reach about 700. The total receipts in this city and Jeffersonville, up to last evening, were 154,203, and they continue at the rate of about 11,000 per day. The total receipts at Cincinnati to Monday night, were 160,331.

The Cincinnati Gazette, of the 30th ult., says:

The weather has been unfavorable for pork packing since 8 o'clock, which has had influence upon the market to-day, the trade being quiet. Prices, however, were not lower. There were sales late on Saturday evening, which we noticed as pending when we closed our last report, of 1,500 head, averaging 230 to 240 pounds, at $7. These, with another lot of 500 at $6 75, were taken by Boston speculators. To-day, light hogs were dull at $6 50 to $6 53, and dealers were not much disposed to purchase 210 to 220 at averages as low as $6 75 to $6 80, although holders were mostly quite firm. The sales noted are the first legitimate transactions that have taken place at $7.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says:

Mr. Preston is preparing for his mission to Madrid. No special reason for haste exists. Spain is slow herself, and if she was not, there is nothing to do, after our Minister gets there, but to make his best bow and show the Dons the way we do things in America. Mr. Preston has fortune enough to make himself popular anywhere, but he has other merits which will insure a welcome independent of that desirable auxiliary. So far as Cuba is concerned, that is all moonshine; for whenever the aid of diplomacy is to be invoked again—an aid never likely to succeed—the negotiations will be conducted at Paris with Louis Napoleon, the keeper of Spain. It is hardly necessary to prove so plain a proposition. All the leading Cuban patriots and Lone Star leaders are anxious to do this object—first, because they know it to be impracticable; and, next, because such a policy would upset all their little calculations. Hence it is that Mr. Preston need not hurry, and that he may take time to prepare himself for the overpowering effect of Castilian manners.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—There is no truth in the report current throughout the South that Secretary Cobb has accepted the position of Minister to France. The Cabinet was in extraordinary session to-day on matters to be presented to Congress on the opening of the session.

A Kansas letter from an authentic source mentions that Montgomery and his associates have been indicted, but are evading the process of the law.

Commodore Stewart will shortly be relieved for a few months from the Philadelphia navy yard, by order of the Secretary of the Navy.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Mr. Forsyth, U. S. Minister to Mexico, has arrived here to-day. Paulding Tatnall has also arrived with the new Japan treaty, and dispatches from Consul Harris to the State Department.

There will be an important recommendation by the President to Congress concerning the opening up of the West to settlement, by bringing the public lands into the market, and extending the pre-emption laws to that territory.

Douglas in Memphis.

We learn by private dispatch from Memphis, that Senator Douglas, of Illinois, addressed a large audience in that city yesterday, and was received with much enthusiasm. He left very soon afterward, on a visit to his Mississippi plantation, accompanied by his wife.—Lex. Courier, 30th.

Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The bank statement shows the following results: increase of specie, $367,000; decrease of loans, $57,000; decrease of currency, $208,000; decrease of net deposits, $1,212,000.
